Walk on water

Climate change and life in Ukraine

Mariana Verbovska
29 March 2021

Drought, floods and tropical night syndrome: the 2020 drought killed all crops in Bessarabia and the deepest Ukrainian lake is drying out rapidly, while the Black Sea could rise by 50 cm, displacing ¾ million people. Ukraine faces climate change already and Mariana Verbovska offers snapshots of the impacts and the efforts to mitigate them.

Published 29 March 2021

Original in English
First published in Eurozine
Downloaded from eurozine.com (https://www.eurozine.com/walk-on-water/)
© Mariana Verbovska / The Institute for Human Sciences (IWM) / Eurozine